S U M M I T

THE CHICAGO-CHINA GREEN BUILDING AND TECHNOLOGY SUMMIT IS COMMITTED TO UNITING GOVERNMENT, ECONOMIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL INTERESTS. IT IS A FORUM FOR DISCUSSION OF LEADING TECHNOLOGIES, COMMERCIAL APPLICATIONS AND BUSINESS PRACTICES IN GREEN BUILDING DESIGN AND RETROFITTING.

TUESDAY

NOVEMBER 17, 2009

CHICAGO CULTURAL CENTER
PRESTON BRADLEY HALL
78 E. WASHINGTON STREET
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60602

The Chicago Sister Cities China Committee is pleased to invite you to the Chicago-China Green Building and Technology Summit. The full-day event will include business matchmaking and panel discussions led by industry experts focusing on sustainable building practices, retrofitting existing structures for improved energy efficiency, and the economics of green building initiatives. This will be complemented by one-on-one sessions between U.S. and Chinese companies, agencies and organizations who share a common business objective. The goal of the summit is to:

- >> Broaden understanding of green building initiatives in the U.S. and China
- >> Showcase breakthrough green projects and developments in and around the Chicagoland area
- >> Educate participants about U.S. and Chinese government programs and policies
- >> Connect participants with "green" industry experts and providers of products, services and capital in the U.S. and China

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Daniel Birns from the U.S. Department of Energy will be speaking on the Memorandum of Understanding which was signed in Beijing between the US and China in July, 2009, to enhance cooperation on climate change, clean and efficient energy and environmental protection.

The purpose of the MOU is to strengthen and coordinate respective efforts to combat global climate change, promote clean and efficient energy, protect the environment and natural resources, and support environmentally sustainable and low-carbon economic growth. The MOU intends to serve as a pillar of the bilateral relationship, build mutual trust and respect, and to lay the foundation for constructive engagement between the two countries.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Commercial and industrial real estate developers, general contractors, energy-conscious executives, architects, designers, engineers, equipment manufacturers, product suppliers, capital providers, attorneys, public officials and academics – all participants will benefit from the exchange of ideas and information at the Chicago-China Green Building and Technology Summit.
